CHINESE CONFERENCE OPENED

Principal Stearns Gave Address of Welcome at Meeting Thursday Night. Address by K. Y. Mok Chairman of Eastern Section. Musicals Tonight in Stone Chapel

The twelfth annual conference of the Eastern Section of the Chinese Students' Alliance opened yesterday at 1.30 p.m. with the registration of the guests. At the opening exercises in the evening Dr. Alfred E. Stearns, principal of Phillips Academy, and K. Y. Mok, chairman of the Section, addressed a large gathering, which included many visitors from town. T. V. Soong, chairman of the Conference Committee, made the announcements of the evening, after which a reception was held in the Peabody House for the visiting delegates.

This morning the business meeting, which was held at 9 o'clock, was followed by a platform address by a substitute for Major-General Leonard A. Wood, commandant of the eastern division of the U. S. Army, who was unable to attend the conference. The committee has also been notified that his Excellency, Samuel W. McCall, governor of Massachusetts, will be unable to be present on Monday, August 28, when he was expected to speak. Hon. David I. Walsh, ex-governor of the state, has been secured to give the address next Monday at 11 a. m. in the Stone Chapel. This evening a musicale will be given in the Stone Chapel to which

ANDOVER'S HEAVY TAX PAYERS

Tyer Rubber Company Heads List of Corporations With $13,737. William M. Wood Largest Individual Taxpayer With $3396. List of Those Paying Over $50

The decrease in the tax rate for 1916 of $1.50 reduces the number of those paying a tax of $50 or over for 1916. The rate is $17.50 per $1000, as compared with $19.00 in 1915, and the total valuation is $8,995,258. Of this amount the Centre District is responsible for $5,543,270; the South District, $1,947,325; and the West District $1,504,663.

The largest individual contributor to the town treasury is found in the West District, William M. Wood paying a tax of $3396.57 and Mrs. Wood $1123.94, a total of $4520.51. In the same district John Joyce pays a tax of $2122.13, and Maurice J. Curran $1371.81.

The estate of J. W. Barnard pays the largest individual tax in the Centre District, amounting to $2402.75. Other individuals paying $1000 or more are Mrs. Frances A. Flint, $1156.75; George F. Smith, $1494.75; Susan Dove heirs, $1145.25; Mrs. Fannie S. Smith, $1144.50; Miss Anne Means, $1085.00; Mrs. Mary E. Ripley, $1043.00. Among the corporations the Tyer Rubber Company heads the list with $13,737.50. The Smith & Dove Company comes next with $7570.50. Other big payers are Lawrence Gas Co., $3613.75; M. T. Stevens fire stops between them. There is a fire proof stairway reaching from the cellar to the top of the building; in fact, every effort has been made to make the whole block as fire-proof as possible.

The new block, which is to be about 28 feet in height, will make a valuable addition to the business section of the town, removing many unsightly buildings from Park street. The members of the firm are John Buchan and Joseph McNally, two of Andover's youngest business men, and their enterprise is being heartily commended. Fisher Ralph and A. Le Boullellier, 45 Bromfield street, Boston, are the architects for the building.

College Adopts New Fair Policy

8 Fairs Already on List

A new departure in educational exhibit work will this fall be attempted by the Mass. Agr. College. The exhibit aims to illustrate strikingly the value of knowing the production of dairy cows and poultry, the value of keeping records and weeding out the "boarders". Illustrating the old saw that "You can't tell by the looks of a frog how far he can jump" will be a number of cows on which careful records have been kept. They look very much alike but some of them have produced 10,000 pounds of milk while others have yielded less than 5,000 pounds, with approximately the same outlay. A number of hens will also be shown, some of which have produced over 200 eggs during the year, while others have not produced 10. Lectures and demonstrations regarding these animals will be given and a number of the Extension Staff will be present for personal conferences.

The fairs which are already scheduled and the dates the exhibit will be shown are: Barnstable Fair, Aug. 29, 30, and 31; New England Fair, Worcester, Sept. 4, 5, 6 and 7; Southern New England Fair, (between New Bedford and Fall River), Sept. 12 and 13; Sturbridge Fair, Sept. 14 and 15; Topsfield, Sept. 19 and 20; Framingham, Sept. 21 and 22; Greenfield, Sept. 26 and 27, and Brockton, Oct. 3, 4, 5 and 6.

The cows to be used at each fair have been secured locally and the fact that high-producers cannot be picked by observation only will be emphasized.

During the forenoon of each day all visitors will be invited to pass judgement on the animals as to their relative production, and leave their estimates with an attendant. At one o'clock each day complete records of all the cows will be posted and comparisons will be made.

The milk from the cows in the M. A. C. tent will be handled by means of a very practical set of equipment such as could and should be used on every farm. These utensils will be on exhibit during the day.

The same general plan will be followed in connection with the poultry with the exception of the fact that the birds have been selected from the college flock and their trap-nest records have been secured.

In addition to the above there will be a Farm Management exhibit based on figures obtained from actual successful and unsuccessful farms in this State. The exhibit will show some of the factors which have tended toward both profits and losses on these farms. An accurate method of determining the net income of the farm will be explained and a simple farm record book will be supplied to those who desire it.

Of Interest to Rural School Teachers and Parents

A recent bulletin of the Extension Service of the Mass. Agr. College is entitled "A Redirected Rural School." The main portion of the bulletin is the simple story by a capable teacher of a one-room rural school, of how she made over the very life of the school as well as brought new life into the lives of the pupils in the school. In an introductory note, Professor W. R. Hart, of the college, says: "The re-directed little school in the country joins hands in a helpful way with every family in the neighborhood. When the school makes use of the home activities, the school life is an enlarged home life. The ties that bind the home and the school are the kitchen, the garden, the workroom and the field. The formal lessons of the school drawing their vitality from the enterprises of the home, become informal, but full of meaning. The Russellville School is an embodiment of these principles and ideals. The following contribution by Miss Ryan is issued in the hope that this simple story of achievement may guide other rural teachers in their efforts to promote the re-direction of the energy of the rural school." Every country school teacher as well as many town and city teachers should read this interesting story. The bulletin will be sent free to all applicants. Send to the Extension Service, M. A. C., Amherst, Mass., asking for Extension Bulletin No. 6.

Harmless "Sanra Cruz"

The island of St. Croix, largest of the three United States is about to buy from Denmark, is the famous Santa Cruz which gave its Spanish name to the rum that all the older people remember, the most highly favored rum of commerce for generations. But a change has come over the world. The rum we get from Santa Cruz now is bay rum, for use externally. We also get some $300,000 worth of sugar annually from St. Croix and sheep skins, goat skins, straw paper and rice, and we ship about $400,000 worth of coal to the three islands.

CHINESE CONFERENCE OPENED

Principal Stearns Gave Address of Welcome at Meeting Thursday Night. Address by K. Y. Mok Chairman of Eastern Section. Musicales Tonight in Stone Chapel

The twelfth annual conference of the Eastern Section of the Chinese Students' Alliance opened yesterday at 1:30 p.m. with the registration of the guests. At the opening exercises in the evening Dr. Alfred E. Stearns, principal of Phillips Academy, and K. Y. Mok, chairman of the Section, addressed a large gathering, which included many visitors from town. T. V. Soong, chairman of the Conference Committee, made the announcements of the evening, after which a reception was held in the Peabody House for the visiting delegates.

This morning the business meeting, which was held at 9 o'clock, was followed by a platform address by a substitute for Major-General Leonard A. Wood, commandant of the eastern division of the U. S. Army, who was unable to attend the conference. The committee has also been notified that his Excellency, Samuel W. McCall, governor of Massachusetts, will be unable to be present on Monday, August 28, when he was expected to speak. Hon. David I. Walsh, ex-governor of the state, has been secured to give the address next Monday at 11 a. m. in the Stone Chapel. This evening a musicale will be given in the Stone Chapel to which

Tyer Rubber Company Heads List of Corporations With $13,737. William M. Wood Largest Individual Taxpayer With $3396. List of Those Paying Over $50

The decrease in the tax rate for 1916 of $1.50 reduces the number of those paying a tax of $50 or over for 1916. The rate is $17.50 per $1000, as compared with $19.00 in 1915, and the total valuation is $8,995,258. Of this amount the Centre District is responsible for $5,543,270; the South District, $1,947,325; and the West District $1,504,663.

The largest individual contributor to the town treasury is found in the West District, William M. Wood paying a tax of $3396.57 and Mrs. Wood $1123.94, a total of $4520.51. In the same district John Joyce pays a tax of $2122.13, and Maurice J. Curran $1371.81.

The estate of J. W. Barnard pays the largest individual tax in the Centre District, amounting to $2402.75. Other individuals paying $1000 or more are Mrs. Frances A. Flint, $1156.75; George F. Smith, $1494.75; Susan Dove heirs, $1145.25; Mrs. Fannie S. Smith, $1144.50; Miss Anne Means, $1085.00; Mrs. Mary E. Ripley, $1043.00. Among the corporations the Tyer Rubber Company heads the list with $13,737.50. The Smith & Dove Company comes next with $7570.50. Other big payers are Lawrence Gas Co., $3613.75; M. T. Stevens

"Perhaps I would be more sympathetic with actors who try to stuff me with all manner of wild tales, if I hadn't played the villain's role so long," mused Stuart Holmes.
"The worst of it is that the older they get, the wilder the stories. They remind me of a little dialogue I read recently," the Fox actor continued.
"Said the father: 'My, my! Baby has swallowed a piece of worsted!'
"Said the mother: 'Well, that's nothing to the yarns she'll have to swallow
when she grows up to be an actress.'"

More Abbotts
The widow of the late D. A. Mc-Castill of Montreal, and her niece, Miss McCastill, spent a day or so in Andover recently.
She was an Abbott of the border
line of Vermont; in her schoolday finish taking a course at Montreal,
where married, and became a loyal subject of our Grandma Albion without a hyphen in her address. Though the Abbotts transplanted well, they retain the clan spirit and the love of the old land of the early days. By the kind courtesy of Mrs. Dalton at the Metropolitan we were introduced as Abbotts.
Her line is George (1); Timothy (2),
the captive to Canada in 1676, wife
Graves; Timothy (3) on the farm, wife Mary Foster, now represented by the last generation on Francis Homer Foster's place; Nathan (4), who with Jane Paul of Methuen went up to Wilton in the Revolution; from there
a new Timothy (5) went to Hunker,
N. H.; James (6) to Orange County, Vermont; James (7), her father, still on our side, where his folks take so much interest in their line of Abbotts
they are building the added records from Nathan (1) down, that the old Abbott Book did not get. They promised me to send more for my collection.
We called upon Elizabeth (Abbott)
Bailey, last of the name born on the old homestead of Timothy (2) to retain the estate, also upon Mrs. William Foster and her daughter, Mrs. Green, fortunately here for the season, whose oldest home on the old place is one of the most interesting houses historically in Andover. Then on Saturday, with her new Boston car well proved, she set forth for the first stage of the long journey to Montreal, planning to stop at night at Charlestown, N. H., on the Connecticut. I rode up to Lowell to show her the home of the cousin, Abigail Abbott, mother of the Lawrences on her Foster side at the old Abiel Abbott place now gone, back of Baker's, then up to the Charles Shattuck place where Asa Foster, her way-back uncle, kept a tavern over whose accommodations Lafayette grumbled. We took in the beauty of Haggett's Pond, then on up the beautiful drive to Lowell streets where in the days of poor Uncle Joseph Abbott (2)
our boys, fresh from Philip's defeat in the swamp fight, unwittingly burned
with the wigwags the blind old Indians
in them, and paid dear for it.
I watched the car disappear towards Nashua where boy Timothy went weeping to Canada in 1676, 210 years ago,
then turned to take the trolley back down the river where the grateful snow
perhaps of our old Roger, led the boy
home to his mother, and I felt drawn to the fathers more than ever before.
Our visitor said that our meadows and hills were like those of old England where she has traveled and sought for Abbott antecedents and relies in song.
A beautiful old town we have, never so full of glory as today. Who is getting ready to take up my work after me to add to Andover annals? This is now a profession I took up so long ago from love of history. It needs a long memory,
a love of the land, a detective instinct
most women have, and sometimes it will pay better than now; but to expect is my aim for the future, to be done while it is yet sure we can get the links in human memory. I ask again for the young to begin such family records as they can achieve, and some one will be grateful years after you are dead.

"Your honor," said the lawyer who was pleading his case lengthily and with many involved arguments, "do you follow me?"
"I have so far," returned the judge wearily; "but I'll say frankly that if I thought I could find my way back, I'd quit right here."

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS

NORTH ANDOVER

The Misses Grace and Annie Osgood, third street, have returned from Hartford, Conn.

Rev. Hay M. Hardy of Lansing, Mich., will preach Sunday at the Congregational church.

Miss Helena Dooley of Main street has accepted a position as a teacher in the Merrimack school.

Lyman G. Perkins and Gus Redman of this town played Saturday with the South Groveland team.

The spindle department of Davis & Furber Machine shop will close Aug. 30 until over Labor day.

Miss Edith Bamford of Sutton street has returned home after spending several months at Akron, Ohio.

James Sheehan of Rockville, Conn., is visiting his uncle, James Sheehan of Cleveland street for the week.

The Misses Annie and Grace Osgood of Main street have been visiting their brother, L. Edgar Osgood, in Hartford, Conn.

Miss Helen Mullaney of New York City has returned home after a two weeks' vacation at the residence of John Walsh, Main street.

J. W. Mozeen and family and Arthur R. Bernard and family of Main street have returned after spending a week at Salisbury beach.

Clarence C. Dunbar of 160 Water street leaves next Saturday for a ten days' vacation at Old Orchard beach, Portland and other places.

Rev. D. P. Sullivan, pastor of St. Joseph's Church, Shelburne Falls, has been passing a few days visiting his brothers, J. F. Sullivan of Second street and C. E. Sullivan of Phillips court.

Timothy Driscoll who is located at Porto Rico, where he is connected with one of the institutions of learning is at home in North Andover. He attended the Cleveland-Boston game at Boston Saturday.

The sum of fifty dollars was realized at the invitation whist party given last week at the home of Miss Smith on Academy road, in the Center. The proceeds are to be donated to the Lawrence General Hospital. The affair was arranged by Mrs. John Hamilton Morse.

Word has been received in North Andover of the marriage of Miss Harriet P. Ryder, former principal of the Merrimack grammar school here, to John Everett of the Pacific Print Works. The marriage took place Saturday afternoon at Wareham with Rev. Putnam Webber of this town performing the ceremony.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Wilkinson, Massachusetts avenue, the Misses Louise and Edith Marshall, who motored from Philadelphia to this town and have been here for six weeks, were given a farewell party recently, previous to their return home. A very pleasant time was held with games and music. Refreshments were served.

Former Superintendent Charles Johnson of the local Board of Public Works who resigned some time ago, has completed his work here and is about to enjoy a much needed vacation. Mr. Johnson finished his work here Monday but is not prepared at present to give out his future plans. He has been employed in this town for the past nine years.

On the Grogan grounds Saturday afternoon, the Kunhardt baseball team defeated the Stevens team by a score of 7 to 2. This victory of the first-named team gives them a winning position in Division A in the Industrial league. They will meet the Tyr Rubber team, winners of Division B, for the championship game at Riverside Park, Lawrence, Saturday afternoon, Sept. 16.

William H. Hooper of 86 Pleasant street, for about four years the efficient and faithful superintendent of the Davis & Furber Machine Company's foundry, has resigned, to take effect September 16. He made a valuable official for the company and was considerate and honorable in his dealings with the employees. During their residence in town, Mr. and Mrs. Hooper have won and retained many friends, who regret their coming departure.

Coat Strike Nears End

Expectations as to an early settlement of the labor difficulties in New York's coat, suit and skirt industry have so frequently been belied by developments that all announcements of such a character are received with caution. At the present writing, however, the way seems to be clearer than at any other time for the resumption of operations. Numerous buyers of coats and suits in New York this week have accepted the prospects as favorable, judging by the liberal orders they have placed with the manufacturers. There is a very active movement of dresses and also of waists.

Spurring 'Em Up

Leap year is half gone and the only practical step taken by the girls thus far is to present their young men with miniature flattery scarfpins. This bauble bears no legend, but he is a dull youth who cannot read in the gift a request to get a move on and press his suit.

METHUEN

Arnold Berson of Pelham street is in New York on a three weeks' vacation.

Frye of North Andover and in the evening by Rev. John T. Ullom of South Lawrence, a former pastor. A lady relative of Mr. Ullom, from the west, will sing in the evening.

Present Status of the White Pine Blister Rust in Massachusetts

With the passage of the Agricultural Appropriation Bill by Congress, $30,000 becomes immediately available for use by the U. S. Department of Agriculture for the eradication of the White Pine Blister Rust in this country. Since Massachusetts has the worst infection of the rust a large part of this money will undoubtedly be spent here. The State Legislature appropriated $10,000 for this work this year and with the co-operation of the Federal Government it is believed that considerable headway can be made during the remainder of this season toward running down all of the infected areas and in eradicating the diseased plants.

Briefly, the situation in Massachusetts is much worse than the most pessimistic had ever suspected. The disease has been found in at least 26 towns in the Berkshires, several towns in the Connecticut Valley, about 25 towns in the vicinity of New Bedford and Fall River and fully eight-tenths of Essex County. Isolated cases have been found in Holbrook, Abington, Marshfield, Easton, and Plymouth. The limits of the area about New Bedford and Fall River have not yet been determined.

When we speak of a town or other area being infected, we mean that the rust has been found within that area and not that all the woodlots are affected.

This disease has made the growing of our white pine impracticable in parts of Europe and unless we succeed at once in eradicating it here, we are in serious danger of losing our most valuable tree.

The Massachusetts Forestry Association, 4 Joy street, Boston, will furnish bulletins showing colored pictures of the rust free, and the citizens are asked to secure these bulletins and to inspect their own pines and currant and gooseberry bushes. The disease has two hosts, the white pine and the currants and gooseberries. It occurs on the smooth bark of the former and on the leaves of the latter. The currants and gooseberries are not affected by the rust but they serve as a medium of spread to the pines.

Any suspicious specimens of either the pine or currants or gooseberries should be carefully packed and sent to Dr. H. T. Fernald, State Nursery Inspector, Amherst, Mass.

The owners of pines and currants or gooseberries are earnestly requested to co-operate in this respect. You may help in this way to locate any infection which has been missed by the authorities.

Now is the time to act if we are to save the white pines.

Mr. Mellor was formerly manager of the Mohican Market in this city. Mr. and Mrs. Matthews and daughter Edith of Bunkerhill street and Charles Northam of Saratoga street will spend two weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Mellor and family at Brant Rock.

Philadelphia's Equestrian Club

In this day of motors a group of Philadelphia's socially prominent men and women retain interest enough in the horse to put up $100,000 to found an exclusive riding club.

This club, whose membership will be limited to one hundred, will be known as the Equestrian Club of Philadelphia. Each member put up $1,000 to join.

The club was formally organized July 5, at a meeting in the office of Charles Sumner Wesley, 1420 Chestnut street.

According to the plans, the membership lists will be closed when 100 has been reached. Each member is to buy a $1,000 bond in the club. These bonds are guaranteed 5 per cent. interest.

BOSTON THEATRES

MAJESTIC

A little easy figuring, counting the days from July 3 to date, subtracting the Sundays and then multiplying that result by four, and you will have found out how many performances of that daring photoplay, "Where Are My Children?", have been given at the Majestic Theatre, Boston. It may be fully as impressive to announce right off that next Monday begins the ninth week or third month of this remarkable film in that city, and eight weeks of a motion picture, shown in midsummer is "going some." And the best of it is there is no end of the engagement in sight. With the house filled twenty-four times each week, there is no doubting the extraordinary interest in the picture, and a casual stroll and a glance at the patrons as they enter the theatre will prove that this interest is confined to no particular class of people. Which is another proof that its heart interest is general in its scope.

The four performances a day will continue, at 2 and 3:30 and at 8 and 9:30 P. M.

WILBUR

"Very Good Eddie," musical play by Philip Bartholomae, Guy Bolton, Jerome Kern and Schuyler Green, founded on the farce, "Over Night," has made a tremendous hit at the Wilbur Theatre, Boston, where it enters on its third week next Monday evening, August 28.

"Very Good Eddie," is characterized by the same simplicity and refinement that made "Nobody Home" so welcome an attraction at this theatre a year ago. It comes here, as did its predecessor, from a long run at the Princess Theatre in New York.

The cast is made up of thoroughly competent players, most of whom sing quite well enough. Ernest Truex, who was the diminutive Mr. Kettle of the original farce, plays the same role again, and dainty Alice Dovey impersonates the tiny Mrs. Darling. It is around this pair of captivating innocents that most of the action of the play centers, and they make a merry harmonious team. There is real artistry in Mr. Truex's simulation of ingenuous youth and the humor of his impersonation will not be soon forgotten. He sings with delicious effect the pathetic ballad concerning the woes of the man who wears a 13 collar and a No. 3 shoe. This song was one of the big hits of the performance. One of the prettiest numbers was the duet, "Babes in the Woods," in which Miss Dovey's voice was heard to excellent advantage. Extra Holiday Matinee Labor Day.

SHUBERT

With the original cast and a special orchestra, Arthur Hammerstein's sensational musical success, "Katinka," with T. Roy Barnes, which has just closed a year's run in New York, will begin a limited engagement at the Shubert Theatre, next Monday evening, Aug. 28.

The same elaborate stage settings, which surpassed in gorgeousness and artistic blending, anything displayed in the metropolis of American theatricals last winter, will be displayed here, and the rich gowns of the female principals and chorus promise a revelation to the most acute followers of prevailing styles in feminine costume.

"Katinka" tells the story of a Russian girl who is forced into marriage with an elderly statesman, much to her distaste. On the night of her wedding, she is spirited away by her lover, Ivan, who has learned that Boris already has a wife, supposed to be "somewhere in Turkey." The two with an American friend named Hopper, set out to discover this Mrs. Boris, and the play deals with the laughable incidents of the search. Popular price matinees will be the rule on Wednesdays during this engagement. The best seats will be only one dollar and a half. Extra Holiday Matinee Labor Day.

"Merchant of Venice" at Braves Field

Without doubt the most notable dramatic undertaking of the year will be the mammoth open air performances of Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice" by Nat C. Goodwin, the most popular American actor and his all star company at Braves Field, Boston, next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings, August 29, 30 and 31. Elaborate preparations have been made for these performances with a view to making them a fitting climax to the many Shakespearean tercentenary celebrations which have taken place throughout the country. No more ideal place could be selected than Braves Field which has come to be known as the "Home of Big Things" because of the perfect manner in which it is laid out and its almost perfect acoustic properties. In order that all may see perfectly and hear the speaking voice with ease, only one section of the immense grandstand will be used and the mammoth stage will be placed directly in front of this section less than twenty feet away. This section is entirely protected from rain, and as the stage will be likewise protected the performances will positively take place regardless of the weather. A scenic production, larger than has ever before been used for a dramatic performance in this country, is being built and painted and is fast nearing completion. The costumes will be gorgeous and the lighting effects will be decidedly novel and spectacular. In other words the performances will be given just the same as in a closed theatre, only magnified many times.

Seats for all three performances are now selling at Read's, 364 Washington St. and at Herrick's Ticket Agency, at 50 cents, 75 cents and $1.00.

Knights of Pythias Banquet

Some of the most prominent officials of the Knights of Pythias attended the dinner and conference held at Black Prince Hall, Lawrence, Thursday evening. Grand Chancellor Harlan P. Knight, invited not only the deputy grand chancellors of the lodges in the district and the keepers of records and seal and masters of finance of thirteen lodges, but also some of the grand officers and committeemen who met him at this affair.

The purpose of the conference was to talk over the work of the year, promote acquaintance among those present and to plan cooperation in various ways. Besides the address by Grand Chancellor Knight, Grand Vice-Chancellor Clifford E. Jones, Grand Keeper of Records and Seal, George E. Howe, and Hon. John N. Cole, a member of the grand tribunal, were heard.

The grand committeemen invited include A. C. Delano of the committee on Credentials and reports, James Forbes of the Committee on Mileage and Harry R. A Kind Word for the Teacher

The job of a teacher is no easy one. This is a fact that we too often overlook when we discuss the subject of the education of our children.

We apply the verbal birch to the teachers of our kiddies and overwhelm them with hard criticism of their ability and methods.

But to have charge of the education of the rising generation is no sinecure. It demands a degree of patience and tact and enthusiasm that perhaps no other vocation calls for.

And it is well that we go easy with our criticism and defer our condemnation. Teaching school is not merely hearing recitations and marking papers. It is a problem in executive management and ingenuity to control and develop the ego of a class of thirty individuals, each with some idiosyncrasy and every one with his own determined and contrary will.

No wonder our teachers welcome vacation as eagerly as the pupils.

The relief, after being keyed up for many long months, is great. Of course there are the fluff-haired girl teachers who merely engage in the desultory teaching of the three R's until Mr. Right comes along, whom they marry with a precision that is wonderful.

But the majority of teachers are faithful, persistent workers with their hearts in their work and who love their profession.

They are the exacting teachers, and therefore the least loved. But they are the ones to whom the parent looks up with respect.

But theirs is a hard row to hoe, and they need plenty of diversion, outdoor and social life to save themselves from the irritation and morbid fretting that is incidental to their difficulties.

It might be a good idea for parents possessing the means to help the jaded teacher have a good vacation.

The Massachusetts Apple Grading Law

The Massachusetts Apple Grading Law passed by the Legislature of 1915 went into effect July 1, 1916, and growers and packers of apples throughout the State are now subject to its requirements. All apples packed or repacked within the State in "closed packages", whether such apples are grown in Massachusetts or in some other State, must, if intended for sale within or without the State, be graded and branded in accordance with the provisions of the Apple Grading Law. A "closed package" is defined as "a barrel, box or other container, the contents of which cannot be sufficiently seen for purposes of inspection without opening the container." Close-headed and burlap-covered barrels, boxes made of close-fitting boards, corrugated paper cartons and covered baskets all come within the realm of "closed packages".

Three grades are established, "Fancy", "A" and "B", and all apples not so graded, or if so graded not branded as such, shall be classed as "Ungraded", and so branded.

The law requires the size of the smallest apple in the package to be stated in plain figures on the outside of the package where it can be seen by the purchaser. The consumer is further protected from fraud by the imposition of a penalty for overgrading.

The law further requires every closed package of apples to be marked in a conspicuous place on the outside with the name of the State in which the apples are grown, the grade, the quantity of the contents in weight, measure or numerical count, the name of the variety, and the name and address of the person by whom or under whose authority the apples were packed or repacked.

Welcome Guests

Andover welcomes this week an organization that would be unique to some cities and towns. Andover knows, however, the type of young men who make up the gathering attending the Chinese Conference, and has learned from long acquaintance with them to number them among her most welcome visitors either for a day or for a longer period.

Many years have passed since the first young man seeking an education in an American institution, and having a desire to absorb American ideals, came to Andover as a student at Phillips Academy. A long list of names prominent in the big achievements that have been noted in that great nation of China could be made up from those who have graduated from Phillips Academy and the higher institutions following the preliminary training. These men now send back here their sons to get the same sort of impression, and it is mighty fine to think that while they are absorbing for their own account things that they want to have as aids in their work in the great nation to which they will return, they are giving here of themselves in a way to add largely to the esteem in which they, as representatives of China, are held in this country.

No brighter, keener, and more enjoyable group will meet in any part of the United States this year for a convention or a conference than that which makes up the students' conference now in session under the auspices of Phillips Academy authorities.

Tax Payers

That is a big list published elsewhere of the men who pay the big bills in Andover. A lot of people have an ambition to get into this sort of a list with a feeling that when there, it will represent an accumulated wealth of more or less generous proportions. Sometimes it does and sometimes it doesn't. As a matter of fact, in every case it represents a pretty heavy trust-ship held by the man who actually pays the bill.

How good it would be if every citizen in the town could appreciate that he has a share of the burden even though his name doesn't appear on the list at all. The biggest payer in the list published elsewhere will take that bill and divide it among all the various consuming factors contributing to either the accumulation of the money involved or the securing of an income based upon the amount the bill may cover.

You, reader, whether numbered among the over-fifty-dollars men or among those who have no message at all from the tax collector, will pay in the last analysis. How good it would be if there could be, in connection with this paying, a broader understanding of what the taxes represent, not only in the individuals involved in paying them but in the return received for them directly or indirectly.

The B. & M. Problem

The inevitable has happened, and it is doubtful if there will be very much surprise felt by many people over the announcement of a receivership of the Boston and Maine Railroad. It is also rather doubtful whether there will be very much objection when the real condition is understood and the situation carefully analyzed.

A dangerous factor involved has not been mentioned very much, and that is the possibility of other railroads finding the opportunity at hand in the present situation to take away some of the various units that make up the big system as a whole. It is not difficult to see such a road as the Grand Trunk finding, through one of the Boston and Maine units that may be thrown off by the operation of a receivership, an opportunity to reach Boston with a direct line from the great Canadian territory which it serves.

It is not difficult to picture one of the great western railroads securing a connection with New England by taking over the Fitchburg, and so on all along the line there are possibilities of a new development of the railroad situation in New England that could be worked out in no other way than by a disintegration of the system through the operation of receivership proceedings.

These are possibilities. The probability is that the sober good sense of all parties involved can be brought to bear upon the situation only through the orders of the court. Undoubtedly this is what those who have asked for the receivership believe will come and consider ought to come.

Let us hope that the ultimate answer shall be a better service for the territory covered, made secure for a long time by a harmonious action of all the factors involved in making up the great Boston and Maine system.

Lower Tax Rate

Andover makes a very excellent showing in the rate established by the assessors for 1916 in comparison with other important towns of the state that may be properly considered in her class. A general reduction is noted all along the line, and this is good. The rates are still pretty high, when they get above one and one-half per cent, and while we may rejoice over the lessened rate, it will be noted that there are few of the towns having the same improvements which the public demands showing a rate as low as this one and a half per cent. Some of the interesting figures are as follows:

The Whole Story

A supplementary report by the High School building committee gives to the public the important figures they missed last week.

That they vary from the figures published in last week's Townsman is due to the fact that after the original bids were submitted (which were the bids as published) several of the lowest bidders were selected to make modifications in the plans. How such a statement as presented last week strikes other communities may perhaps be gathered from the following editorial comment in the Wakefield Daily Item which, after quoting the Townsman, says:

"We never heard of such an instance before, but presume there is good reason for withholding the bids or the amount of the contract. Such a deal would never go in Wakefield, for it would seem that the public should know about these things."

Now let us have all the news and have everybody interested and cooperative.

Report of High School Building Committee

The report issued last week by the committee covered its doings up to the time of the awarding of the contracts. Since then the architects have filed the plans and specifications with the State Police and obtained from them a certificate authorizing construction.

The contracts as awarded by the committee have been accepted by the various contractors in interest and are now signed. The general contract to the J. H. Mendell Engineering and Construction Co. is for $73,376.00. Bride, Grimes & Co. have signed for the heating and ventilating of the new building for the sum of $8041.00, and the same firm has accepted the contract for changes in the central heating plant, excepting the new boilers, for the sum of $5875.44. The two horizontal tubular boilers will be supplied by Wright, Stafford & Son for $2000.00.

The architects' fees, upon the basis of these contracts, as now signed amount to $1643.79, and those of the engineers to $127.00.

A careful estimate of the cost of furnishings shows that about $4500 will be needed for this purpose. From time to time as the work progresses and matters of interest arise, the committee will make further report.

ON CHAUTAUQUAN CIRCUIT

Andover Will Have a Week of Chautauquan Speakers and Entertainers in 1917. The List of Guarantors

Andover will be placed on the Chautauquan circuit next year. This has been brought about mainly through the efforts of Miss Bertha Merrill of Swarthmore, Pa., where one of the most successful Chautauquas of the year was held. She has been able to get fifty of the prominent men of the town to back the financial end of the scheme in case of failure to meet expenses, which seems very improbable.

The Chautauquan, which is to be held either the last of July or first of August, lasts five days. It consists of a series of lectures given by men prominent in different phases of life, and entertainments of all sorts. One person has said that "the tone of the Chautauquan is not that of the circus, nor theatre, nor camp meeting, nor the lecture hall, but a pleasing blend of them all." All of its affairs are held in a large tent erected in a central part of the town, and is a place for the amusement of young and old during its entire stay. The work that it performs is uplifting, intellectually, and yet is mixed with plenty of clean amusement to make the whole interesting.

The Chautauquan people move from town to town, there being eighty-three towns on a circuit. Each of these towns hears the same program in the same order, and each day's performer moves on to the next town after his work is done and the next one comes to take his place. In other words, it is just a long chain which drifts through town for five days until the end is reached.

Andover has the following list of guarantors:

ESCAPED FROM DROWNING

Little Kathleen Colbert, three years old child of Richard Colbert of Essex street, came very near drowning on Friday of last week. While playing with her brother and two other children at Rabbit Pond, she attempted to reach a stick in the water and fell in, soon getting beyond her depth. She sank repeatedly, and would surely have been drowned but for the immediate and intelligent efforts of Harold Germain, a boy of ten, son of George Germain of Central street. He succeeded in getting her out and by stretching out her arms and rolling her on the grass, in resuscitating her. He said he remembered the directions given in the physiology class in the fifth grade, and by making use of them undoubtedly saved her life—a most significant proof of the value of such instruction in the school-room. Just at that time, Mrs. John V. Holt, from her window on Bartlett street, noticed signs of trouble on the bank of the pond and hurried over there, taking the child home, giving her a hot bath and providing her with dry clothes, after which the boy who had rescued her carried her to the Essex street home, to the great joy of the parents, who had been anxiously searching for the child.

Comings and Goings

Four ministers—as is proper—head the present list of Andover visitors, three of them coming on successive days. Rev. Moseley H. Williams, Ph. D., a classmate in the Seminary of Dr. Bancroft, Dr. William E. Park and Rev. George P. Byington, and for many years in editorial work for the American S. S. Union, Philadelphia, was here for sake of old associations, but found most of his old teachers and other friends in the Chapel cemetery. Rev. B. F. Gustin and wife (Gertrude Holt) were here briefly on return from a vacation auto trip in New Hampshire. Rev. Dr. Doremus Scudder and wife, on their way from his former Woburn parish to Manchester, called for two or three hours to see Mrs. Draper and to look at Abbot Academy, of which Mrs. Scudder, as Miss Bosher, was the popular secretary and librarian for ten years, previous to her service in California and the Hawaiian Islands. They were to start for the Islands, via California, on Wednesday, and in November leave Honolulu, where Dr. Scudder had been missionary superintendent and pastor for several years, for Japan, to resume his former missionary service there. Rev. William P. Fisher, well known in Andover, after a few days' sojourn at Phillips Inn, returned to his home in Londonderry.

The next on the list are only children of ministers! Misses Susan and Lillie Stone, daughters of Rev. T. D. P. Stone, the fourth principal of Abbot Academy, were here for a short time on their way to a western vacation with their brother, Rev. John Timothy Stone, D. D.

William B. Wright, Esq., of Buffalo, N. Y., is a son of Rev. Dr. William B. Wright, a graduate of Andover Seminary in 1861, and former pastor in Boston and Buffalo, where he still resides. The son was here to enter a young man in the Phillips Academy, of which his grandfather, Osgood Johnson, was the fifth principal. He took special interest in looking at the portraits in the Academy library, and at the old "Samaritan House".

Robert M. McCurdy, who is now engaged in cataloguing the Huntington Library in New York City, is at home for a brief vacation. Reginald Holt of Bartlett street went last week to spend a week with his playfellow, across the street, Walter Lillard, at the Hazen-Lillard Camp Sagamore, near Bristol, N. H. The very day he reached there, Lieut. W. H. Lillard, of the Phillips faculty arrived from the Mexican frontier. He comes home to prepare for less military, perhaps quite as useful, service as principal of the Marion (Mass.) School. Miss Mary E. Carter of Salem street has returned from her Western trip, having taken the Lake Erie steamer trip from Cleveland to Chicago, to visit her former neighbor, Miss Katherine Clough.

P. S. As the above was being put in type, Professor and Mrs. Forbes of Andover and Nantucket, were met in an auto on the street; as they were in town only for a day and were about returning to their "sea-girt isle," they clearly belong to the "Comings and Goings."

Former Andover boys had a big share in the sixth annual Sam Sam of the U. S. M. Co. held at Beverly Saturday. Alexander Black was clerk of course, and William Gordon, one of the measurers. William H. Black was a member of the executive committee.

In the athletic sports Alexander Black won first prize, a handsome punch bowl set, in the 220-yard dash, while Charles Low counted third in the half-mile and was presented with a thermos bottle. He also broke the tape first in the 100-yard dash, but the judges disagreed and the race was run over. Lowe was announced as winner of second prize, but was again counted out when he went for his prize. He ran on the U. S. M. Co. relay team, which defeated the Thomas G. Plant quartet. Peter Dugan was entered in the golf tournament, also in the half-mile and two-mile races, but did not compete in either of them.

Many from Andover attended the affair.

Flower Show

Two weeks from today will be held the annual Flower Show in the town hall. Better get the list of prizes offered, then look over your garden and see if you cannot enter a few winners. Don't wait until you see the prize awards and then wish you had put yours in. All entries must be made with the secretary, Mrs. Bernard Allen, 56 Bartlett street, not later than September 5. All entries for the children's garden competition must be made not later than August 30.

FAREWELL PRESENTATION

Monday night at eight o'clock a joint meeting of the adult and juvenile lodges of Abbott Village was held. The meeting was called for the purpose of bidding farewell to brother James Caldwell, treasurer of both lodges.
Brother Caldwell has severed his connection with the Stevens Mills at Mar-land Village to accept a position with the United Shoe Machinery Company of Beverly. The lodge loses one of its most ardent workers who labored untiringly and unselfishly for the order.
Whatever he undertook he always brought to a successful finish. His kind and cheery disposition and his readiness to perform what was asked of him
made him many friends who wish him
success in his new position.

Chief Templar George Fyffe with a few well chosen words presented Brother Caldwell with a handsome set of military brushes. Brother Caldwell responded in a fitting manner, expressing his regret at leaving the lodges and the friends but he wished them well
in their work of the order.

At the regular meeting of the adult lodge Charles Murphy was elected treasurer. Other routine business was transacted. Many members took part in the Good of the Order program.

At the district lodge session to be held in Newburyport Labor Day, Abbott Village lodge will be represented by the following delegates: Mr. and Mrs.
Charles Murphy, George Keith and James Craig. Next week a Donkey
Party will follow the meeting.

With Superintendent George Keith
in charge, the juveniles installed these officers for this quarter: Chief Templar, Christina Snyder; Vice-Templar, Sadie McLeish; Secretary, Lois Buik; Assistant Secretary, Margaret Valentine; Treasurer, Minnie Fraser; Financial Secretary, Jennie McLeish; Past Chief,
Margaret Low; Marshal, Helen Scannell; Deputy Marshal, Margaret Cairnie; Guard, Annie Vannetti; Sentinel,
Elizabeth Valentine; Chaplain, Mary
Keith. Brother Joseph Greenhow and Brother Charles Valentine acted as installing marshals. Under the Good of the Order a pleasant program of singing was carried through after which refreshments were served.

The Quannapowitt Fair

The premium list of the Quannapowitt
Fair which is held yearly at the Wakefield-Reading fair grounds, has just been issued and it contains many interesting announcements. Prizes will be given as usual for the various breeds and varieties
in cattle, horses, ponies, poultry, fruit, vegetables, flowers and for exhibits in domestic manufactures and by Granges, manufacturers of agricultural implements, schools and youths. There will be a work horse parade, pulling match, horse and pony show, automobile show and parade and many other interesting attractions. The Massachusetts Fish and Game Commission will make a splendid exhibit. There will be ten immense tanks of the various kinds of fish, and ten aviaries of beautiful birds.

Owing to the prevalence of infantile paralysis, there will be no baby show
this year.

The fair will be held on September 13, 14, 15, 16.

Premium lists may be obtained by applying to E. H. Perley, Secretary, Wakefield.

Pemberton Inn

For tempting menus and dinner specialties and the high standard of entertainment provided for the diversion of guests, Pemberton Inn is not to be surpassed by any dining resort in New England. This favorite dining place of autoists and excursionists is daily filled with festive parties, and the ideal conditions which always prevail make a visit to Pemberton a memorable one.

The entertainment comprises Cabaret and Dansants, the former being presented by the popular favorites,
Louise Mack, Rose and Fuller, and Frosini, the accordionist. In the Dansants guests are encouraged to dance between courses and music for this purpose is provided by a Banjo

Ladies Auxiliary and Members of Clan Wallace Guests of Clan Johnson at Concert and Dance

Last Friday night in Garfield Hall
a large delegation of the members of Clan Wallace and the Ladies Auxiliary of Beverly visited the local clan and were entertained at a concert and dance, the concert being the best and biggest affair the local clan has participated in outside of the annual Burns Anniversary.

The visitors came by auto barge and headed by Piper William White of Clan Johnston, marched into the hall
where they were welcomed by Chief Dobbie. An excellent program had been arranged for the benefit of the visitors and was a great success. Clan Wallace brought considerable talent with them, among them being Miss Mary Black, pianist, and William Black, violinist, both well-known former Andover people. Alexander Black, chief of Clan Wallace, is also a former Andover boy. A pleasant duty fell to him when he presented the Burke silver cup to chief Dobbie, which was won by Clan Johnston's tug-of-war
team at the recent Cricket club field day.

One of the most enjoyable parts of the program was the exhibition of dancing by little Greta Spence of North Andover, who gracefully danced the Highland fling, sword dance, and was greeted with great applause. She won a Walter Scott medal at the outing of the Clans a week ago, and is a wonderful dancer for such a little tot.

Past Chief MacKnight of Beverly performed skillfully on the violin and was accompanied by his daughter, Miss Margaret MacKnight. John Donnelly gave several concertina selections of favorite Scottish songs and John Nelson rendered "That Song We Love So Much to Hear" in a pleasing manner.

Automobile Accident

Last Wednesday afternoon two automobiles collided on the Prospect Hill road, which leads off Salem street. A big Winton was coming down from the Higgins farm and was keeping to the right side of the road when the other car, a Ford, came around a curve, hugging the left-hand side of the road in order to make the hill on high gear. The driver of the Winton attempted to avoid the accident by driving across the road into the bushes, but something possessed the other man to do the same thing and they crashed into one another.
The Winton was damaged more than the other car, having a broken steering gear and a sprung axle. One person was cut by the glass from the windshield, but no one was seriously injured, which was extremely fortunate
under the circumstances.

Meat Markets to Close

The meat and provision markets will close on Wednesday afternoons the whole year round. The half holiday has proved a success during the summer and the proprietors have agreed to make it permanent. It is expected that the grocery stores will come to the same agreement soon.

Millinery Very Active

With millinery houses the fall season
is opening up in a very successful way
in view of the unusual volume of orders already placed by retailers. The models which have just come in from Paris show strong military tendencies, prominent among these being visor effects in large as well as in small hats.

Neckwear manufacturers are promi-nently featuring high back and low front collars with jabots. In fact much is being made of the jabot as an addition to collars of all kinds. With the broad use of veils now being made by millinery houses, these accessories bid fair to have larger consumption than at any previous period.

DEEP SEA FISHING TRIP

A party of 27 local men, under the direction of J. Howard Baker and Lester Hilton, enjoyed a deep sea fishing trip off Swampscott on Friday. The party left Andover at 5:45 a. m., in autos, and upon arrival at Swampscott embarked on a fishing schooner for a pleasant sail to the fishing grounds.

David Lynch won the first prize of $3.50 for the largest fish with a 13-pounder. Lester Hilton was awarded $2.50 for catching the most fish with a total of five. An excellent fish dinner was enjoyed at noon. The party returned to town early in the evening.

The following were members of the party: J. Howard Baker, Lester Hilton, Brinton Baker, Henry Hilton, J.
H. Playdon, Edward Berry, Charles A.
Hill, Theo. Muise, James Grosvenor, Edward Ward, Frank Ward, George Henderson, Bert A. Wheeler, William Collins, William Ross, Dan Hilton, Nathan Shattuck, William A. Allen, J. P.
West, George Dumont, Chas. E. Donovan, Ralph Baker, David Lynch, Leon Germain, and William F. Gledhill.

Lawn Party

At the home of Miss Helen Stewart
on School street, a very pleasant lawn
party was held last Saturday afternoon.
The affair was conducted by Miss Stewart and Miss Gladys Snyder for the children of Bryan Village. Dancing, singing and music was enjoyed. Races were run and the winners presented with suitable prizes. Refreshments were served. Those present were:

Joan Rennie, Sarah Wizz, William
Stewart, James Fettes, Evelyn Fettes,
Christina Snyder, Joseph Connelly,
John Connelly, Ina Thompson, George
Thompson, Dorothy Fettes, Arthur
Lavery, Julia Ross, Jennie Gillespie,
Bella Craig, Annie Craig, Ella Fee,

Annual Cricket Meeting

The Cricket Club will hold its annual general meeting in the club house tonight. There will be election of officers for next season. The club has had one of its best years financially and in point of membership. It is hoped that all the members will attend this meeting.

Cook's Capabilities

Suburbanites who have had occasion to enjoy the homelike features of Cook's restaurant in Boston, located only a half block away from the Colonial theatre, possess little idea of the immense catering facilities that this place is able to cope with. As an excellent illustration of their worth as caterers,
they fed daily, during the week, the thousands of retail druggists in convention in Boston. One of the biggest stunts was carried out on Friday when 2500 members enjoyed a rare clam-bake in Plymouth under an enormous tent erected especially for the purpose.

At a party one evening a married lady was entertaining the assembled company with an account of their first quarrel, and how after making it up with one another, her husband had planted a tree in remembrance of it.
"If we had only done that," whispered
the minister's wife to her husband,
"what a splendid avenue we might have had."

Paragon Park and Palm Garden

There is always something going on in the way of entertainment at Paragon
Park, Nantasket Beach, and in the Palm Garden especially is this true. Every afternoon and evening Cabaret and Dansants alternate in regaling the guests and each week the entertainment is changed with new features replacing those of the week previous.

An imposing array of talent, comprising a score of charming girls, Tom Quinn, and Reynolds and Carpenter, saxophonists, present the Cabaret on the stage and among the tables. The dan-sants are very popular, especially with the lady guests, and all are encouraged to dance between courses in the cleared space among the tables, with music
by the Banjo Band and the Palm Garden Orchestra.

The free amusement features in the Park, including high diving, loop-the-loop stunts, band concerts, etc., form a pleasant diversion to the day's outing.
The season is fast nearing its end and patrons have but few more opportunities to enjoy the abundant pleasures provided by Manager Dodge.

Benefit Game

A benefit soccer game, played under the auspices of the soccer committee of the Industrial Carnival, last Saturday afternoon on the Cricket field, was won by the Wood Mill against a team picked from the other mills that took part in the soccer series. The game was fast
despite the extreme heat; both teams played good football and there was little to choose between. Butler scored the only goal of the match after a pretty individual effort. While the attendance was poor, many tickets were sold in the mills.

Wood Mill—Deyermund; H. Hulse
and Downs; Butler, Haddon and Caldwell; Gilmartin, Ratcliffe, Rhodes, Law and Butterworth.

Selected Team—Rennie of Ayer; Turton of Washington and A. Hulse of Arlington; Coleman of Tyler, Black of Smith & Dove, H. Houghton of Uswoco,
Deyermund of Tyler, Anderson of Smith
& Dove, Doherty of Tyler, and Ramsey of Tyler.

Referee, Fred Houghton.

Keeping Hospital Patients' Food Warm

Great difficulty is encountered in hospitals in keeping food warm from the time it leaves the kitchen until it arrives in the wards.

Officials at St. Mark's Hospital, Salt Lake City, have studied the problem carefully and finally had built seven portable wagons. These wagons accommodate twenty-six trays and are arranged with sliding doors that make them practically airtight. At the bottom of each wagon is mounted a navy-type electric air heater.

An hour before each meal the various heaters are connected to a source of electric current so that by meal time the interiors of the wagon are heated to the proper temperature. After the wagon is loaded with its trays of food the heater is disconnected and the whole equipment is placed on the elevator and raised to the floor to which it is consigned. Here the heater is again connected to a source of current supply and remains connected until the last tray is removed.

The new system is in continuous operation and it is found to work perfectly—the food is served to the patients quick as warm and is as palatable as when it left the kitchen range.—Electrical World

NEWS OF ANDOVER SUBURBS

ENTERTAINED BEVERLY

The local clan and auxiliary contributed in a large measure to the program. William MacEwan rendered "Fighting for Liberty," a war song of his own composition, the accompaniment having been written by Edwin G. Booth of Lawrence, organist and choirmaster of the Free church. It was a stirring song and the words follow:

Far, far away on foreign shores,
Friends of our childhood days,
Our fighting men, proving again
Britain shall rule the wave,
Kitchener's call will be answered by all
Who love home and country;
Men will rally who love our ally,
Brave Belgium and victory,

CHORUS
Cheer, boys, cheer; cheer them to victory;
France, Britannia and Belgium's sons,
Nobly fighting behind the guns
Fighting for their country,
On the land and sea
Heroes bold, young and old,
Fight for Liberty.

Brave Belgium's foes long will recall
Her heroes in the fight;
Fought till they fell, mid shot and shell
For liberty and right.
Once more our soldiers and sailors have proved
They were fighting for King or Queen,
On sons of Britain we're proud to fasten
The coveted D. C. M.

Our heroes brave from o'er the wave
Australians staunch and true;
Canada's sons facing the guns,
Our nation's proud of you,
Under the Union Jack proudly they fight,
"Tis the flag of liberty,
Long may it wave o'er the true and the brave
Who are fighting on land and sea.

Miss MacEwan and Miss Armour rendered songs in a very enjoyable manner and Henry Fairweather pleased his audience with his impersonations of Harry Lauder.

David Forbes and William Benson also rendered solos.

Past Chief John Ritchie of Clan Douglas of Haverhill, gave a short address.

Following the concert, dancing was enjoyed, music being furnished by Misses MacKnight and Black, pianists, and Messrs. Black and MacKnight, violinists, and by Piper White. Refreshments were served.

"First-aid for the Town Common"

Nearly every New England town has its "common" or "green" which has been handed down by previous generations.

In our present-day planning the question arises, "Are we utilizing our common to the best possible advantage; are we encroaching upon it and despoiling it for its intended and best use?"

F. A. Waugh, Professor of Landscape Gardening at the Mass. Agr. College has just written a bulletin entitled "The Town Common" in which he deals with some of the problems in this connection.

The bulletin is well illustrated and should prove of great interest to village improvement associations, town planning boards, town officers and all public spirited citizens. The main points brought out can be summarized as follows:

1. The town common is a characteristic and important New England institution; 2. Originally its uses were quite different from those of today. The common of the present is valuable primarily as a civic center adding to the beauty, dignity, and convenience of the town; 3. There are three typical forms; the triangular, the rectangular and the long wide street; 4. Commons vary in size, but a space of two to four acres may be regarded as a sort of standard; 5. It is highly important to prevent the erection of buildings on the town common; 6. Other structures of all sorts, such as monuments, handstands and fountains are better placed on the margins or at the angles of the common, or entirely removed to other territory; 7. Grass and trees are the two materials of prime importance in making a good common; 8. Native elms and maples are nearly always the best trees for Massachusetts towns; 9. In many places there have been serious tree losses in recent years, and these ought to be made good by new plantings; 10. Shrubbery plantings and flower beds are nearly always inadvisable on town commons; 11. New commons ought to be set aside in certain growing towns and especially in new villages and neighborhood centers. A copy of this bulletin can be secured by writing The Extension Service, M. A. C., Amherst, Mass., asking for Extension Bulletin, No. 7.

WEST PARISH

Miss Marion Abbott has returned home after spending a week at Bennet Cottage, Plum Island.

Miss Bernice Boutwell of the Bailey district is spending the week with relatives in Franklin Park.

Miss Carolyn J. Burt has returned home after a vacation spent at Bailey Island, Casco Bay, Maine.

Miss Elizabeth A. Paul of North Andover is spending the week at the home of her uncle, G. L. Averill.

Mrs. Charles Newton, Sr., and granddaughter, Doris Newton, are spending the week-end in Boston.

Miss Mary Boutwell from "town" is spending the week with her brother, Samuel Boutwell of the Bailey district.

Mrs. Louise Bailey, with her daughters, Louise and Ethel, of the River road are spending their vacation with relatives in Hiram, Maine.

Rev. and Mrs. Newman Matthews, and Kenneth Hardy spent the week-end in an automobile trip to Provincetown and through Cape Cod.

Miss Gertrude Lewis has returned to her home in Providence R. I. after visiting for a week with Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Lewis of Lowell street.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Downing of Miami, Florida, are spending a number of weeks with Mrs. Warren Bailey and Mrs. Charles Pike of the River road.

During the absence of the pastor, Rev. W. H. Ryder occupied the pulpit in the West church, last Sunday morning. Next Sunday morning there will be no service.

Dynamiting Mosquitoes

Dynamiting stagnant water holes is the new remedy discovered by citizens of West Haddonfield, N. J., for the wiping out of mosquito breeding places.

For years past a number of pools lying between the railroad and Haddonfield have furnished a bountiful crop of the big Jersey "skeeters". These stagnant lagoons could not be drained into the city sewerage system because they lay lower than the sewers, and even if drained, would fill again with the first rain.

Someone suggested dynamiting the holes, and an expert was sent for. He drilled holes twenty feet in depth in the center of each pool, then dropped a heavy charge of dynamite into them and fired it. The result was the destruction of veins of clay or rock in such a manner that the surface water soon disappeared into the earth.

The holes are now dry spots and the supply of mosquitoes has considerably diminished in the neighborhood.

Sun and Moon Gods of Incas

In religion the Incas were fond of worshipping high places, fine views, and other striking natural objects, such as irregular boulders, waterfalls, and springs; the wonders of the air and sky, such as rain, thunder, the starry firmament, the moon, and above all, the sun, writes Professor Hiram Bingham in the National Geographic Magazine. In a cold, mountainous region like the central Andes, it was not natural that the sun, so essential to the raising of crops and the comfort of shivering humanity, should have been regarded as their chief divinity.

Of literature as such they necessarily had none. Like most primitive peoples, they had remarkable memories. Their language was probably the Quichua. Mr. Hardy, of our expedition, who has been studying it, says that "for one who has not learned it in childhood it is difficult because of the lack of any good grammar in either Spanish or English."

Get Your Boy Interested

A fortnight ago the boy across the street began building it. He raised a slim pole from the highest peak of his father's roof, steadied it with guy wires that ran to trees and fence posts, his mother all the time watching him anxiously, with her apron up to shield her eyes from the sun, and occasionally warning him, mother-like, that he was surely bound to break his neck.

It wasn't long before the neighbor's boys began to gather, and to help in the stringing of wires, working with almost feverish interest. By dark of the third day the thing seemed finished. A long spider web of wires, kept apart by sticks, ran across, high in the air, to the gable of the house across the alley and swayed in the wind. There must have been twenty boys there by that time; and no circus parade that ever came to town could have interested them as much as this home-made wireless apparatus. In the evening it can be heard buzzing and snapping, and they say its wide-open ears catch messages from the air, and that one night the listening boys picked up the sound of a big ship talking far out at sea.

What a world of romance those boys are living in! What wonder that they come each evening from all directions to sit around and listen and talk and experiment and swap electric apparatus and thumb screws and strange looking things made of brass and copper. Mothers have no more trouble in that neighborhood keeping their boys off the streets at night. They know where the boys are. The interest has spread to adjoining blocks and already other wireless contrivances are going up.

Mr. and Mrs. David Warden and family passed the week-end with Mr. Warden's uncle, David Milne, of Cuba street. Misses Agnes and Evelyn Sharpe of Boston also spent the week-end at their uncle's home.

"Long Sweetening"

A statement to the effect that the world's sugar crop is 1,500,000 tons short of the usual output discloses another effect of the war. France, the great center of the sugar beet industry, has lost a considerable percentage of her beet-growing territory to Germany—which at present is not in shape to utilize it. In addition, many sugar factories have been destroyed. The increased production in the United States and Cuba does not supply the deficiency, and the retail price of sugar touches that which obtained for several years after the Civil War, when "ten pounds for a dollar" was the standard.

If sugar continues to soar there may be a temptation to revive the expedients during the war, when sorghum syrup played no inconsiderable part in the house-hold. In pioneer days the sugar in common use was the so-called brown sugar—moist, and dark in complexion, the only white sugar being the "loaf" sugar, which came in hard lumps, shaped something like a loaf, which had to be broken up with a hammer. For common use there was the sorghum syrup, thick and sweet, which was used in coffee and for cooking during "war times", and was known in country vernacular as "long sweetening." It appeared on most farmers' tables and was esteemed "not half bad" on warm biscuits and the mutational pancake. Though sorghum is still grown for its value as a forage crop, and in some localities still made into syrup, it has been largely superseded by granulated and the cut loaf sugars. However, if the price continues to soar the question of "long sweetening" may replace the common breakfast table query, "How many lumps, please?"

McDOUGALL'S MUSINGS

A Round-About Paper

Who is to be our next president? We who live in a Hughes district have no idea of the hold that Wilson has on the southern and western farmers, and the prophet who thinks he can tell the outcome of the November election may turn out to be a false prophet.

The Republicans in 1912 prophesied that the country would be ruined by a reduction of tariffs to tariff for revenue only. Today the country is prosperous and the textile trade, as well as many other trades has raised the wages of the workers. In fact, the dire results predicted by the G. O. P. have, owing to the European war not been realized. The exports and imports have been larger than ever and the dollar wheat pleases the Western farmers as well as the big prices got for all farm produce.

It will be difficult for the Republican stump speakers to convince the voters that the war has saved this country from ruin. So far, Mr. Hughes has spoken judiciously and sensibly in his western speeches and I think that he has enough gumption not to say that by putting on higher tariffs the high cost of living will be reduced, as his Republican friends did in 1912. Mr. Hughes says and I believe that he is right in saying, that after the war this country will have a difficult problem to solve.

Mr. Wilson has had plenty to do with strikes, diplomatic correspondence, the Mexican Muddle and the preparedness cost, etc., without making campaign speeches, and it may be his best policy to say as little as possible and refer only to the prosperity of the country since the 1912 election. Many things may happen before November. If the trade of the country keeps as it is now, the Democrats may again win in 1916.

I have had no British newspaper for six weeks. The "Censor", whoever he may be, is to blame for that. Our American papers give us all the news about the war. The Kaiser says that he is not to blame for the human butchery; well, I suppose nobody but the devil is to blame, and Dr. Eliot and many learned men say that there is no such thing as a devil so no one is to blame, just a thing they call human nature. It is awful to think of the young men who have been killed. I saw a Scotch woman yesterday who has, or rather had, three brothers at the front; two of them are amongst the slain. I talked with a Scotch girl last week; she told me that her intended husband went down with the big ship Queen Mary.—At the same time I saw a Canadian girl who said that her cousin, a sergeant, was killed last month. I have, or had, five grand-nephews fighting—two sailors and three soldiers. One of the sailor boys was staff surgeon on board the Cruiser Hawk when a German submarine sent her to the bottom of the sea.

King George who has just been over to France, in his general order to the Allies, which I now quote, shows him to be a man who reigns by the will of the people and refrains from the usual inflated way of rulers who speak about "My people, my Soldiers, my subjects," etc. So I let King George finish this musing.

London, Aug. 15.—After a visit to the front, King George today issued a general order to the army in France, expressing his appreciation of the splendid condition and cheerful confidence of all ranks.

"I realize not only the splendid work done in immediate touch with the enemy," says the general order, "but also the vast organizations behind the fighting line, honorable alike to the genius of their initiators and to the hearts and hands of the workers. Everywhere there is proof that all men and women are playing their part, and I rejoice to think that their noble efforts are being heartily seconded by all classes at home."

"Do not think that I and my fellow-countrymen forget the heavy sacrifices the armies have made and the bravery and endurance they have displayed during the two years of bitter conflict. These sacrifices have not been in vain. The arms of the Allies will never be laid down until our cause has triumphed. I return home more than ever proud of you. May God guide you to victory."

IAN McDOUGALL.

Chewing Gum Crop of 1917 to Break All Records

There are many Mexicans who are still quite friendly to the United States. In the State of Yucatan and in Southwestern Mexico, for example, where the American Chicle Company, which is composed of ten of the oldest chewing gum manufacturers in the world, holds large government land concessions, the gathering of chicle for the Adams chewing gums is a most important industry.

The natives supposed that on account of the strained relations between the two countries the American Chicle Company would not gather as much gum as usual this year, but they were agreeably surprised a few days ago when M. D. Bromberg, Secretary of the company, showed up unexpectedly in Yucatan and announced that he had instructions from Darwin R. James, Jr., the new president of the Company, to launch the greatest gum gathering campaign in the history of the chewing gum industry.

Immediately the head "chicleros" or "captains", as they were called, sent messengers throughout the province to call in every available chiclero and to tell each man to bring with him a recruit, in order that the army of gum gatherers might be doubled for the 1917 "cutting".

Secretary Bromberg began organizing camps, engaging ships, buying provisions, mules, teams, tools, tents and everything that is necessary for a gum-gathering expedition into the dangerous forests, where the finest gum is found. All of the trained chicleros and hundreds of new ones are now either in the jungles or preparing to start and each camp is determined to out-do all the others in the amount and quality of gum returned to the seaports by January.

The present stock of chicle gum in the United States is very low and prices are high. President James determined to not only put an end to the shortage of gum and high prices but to provide for his ten factories in the United States and Canada an abundant supply of the finest fresh chicle for the chewing gum production of 1917. This new gum will go into the Adams and Beaman gums and, in fact, all of the one hundred brands produced by the American Chicle Company.

Thirteen in Family at No. 13

"Ma" Sunday is not superstitious. While in Baltimore she lived in No. 13 house with thirteen in family and says she was as happy and contented as ever in her life. The superstitions which are supposed to belong so essentially to the feminine sex have no part in "ma's" life. She is too broad-minded for that, and her life is too full of real things and taking care of "Billy" for that.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

How Boy Scouts Help Their Towns and Cities

Every Boy Scout is pledged to do at least one good turn each day, but in addition to these individual acts of kindness, whole troops and often all the troops in a whole community will unite to do something which requires organization and concerted action.

"Safety First" campaigns, "Swat the Fly" crusades, and "Clean-Up Days" have been conducted or assisted by Scouts in scores of places. Very often the courteous appeal of a Scout has proven more efficacious in securing permanent results than the preeminent order of a public official. There can be no question that the boy is working for the good of his community and that his suggestions are free from any connection with petty graft or politics.

Mrs. Housekeeper swatting the advance guard of the summer's swarm of flies, cannot fail to be interested in the Scout who, half scared perhaps, at his own temerity, points out to her the fact that her own garbage can and dishwasher drain are responsible for her unwelcome visitors. If she has ordinary common sense and what housekeeper has not—one microphotograph showing how the deadliest of germs are picked up by the house fly's feet and then deposited upon the bread and butter which her children eat, makes her a red-hot recruit for the militant forces of sanitation. Woman's tongue has been the subject of many unkind remarks. Let us pause and reflect upon what it accomplished when it is set swarming for a cause like this. It means less flies and more Scouts before the sun goes down.

"Safety First" is second nature with a Scout, for the prevention of accidents is one of his earliest subjects of instruction. Most accidents can be foreseen. Every Scout is taught to look for them and, by removing the causes to prevent the consequences.

Many communities are indebted to the Scouts for the distribution of literature on fire-prevention and other subjects of vital importance, for planting trees, protecting parks, painting fire hydrants, establishing town clock, testing street lights, helping in public playgrounds, cleaning sidewalks, assisting in campaigns for good roads, cooperating with the S. P. C. A., serving on relief committees, aiding blind refugees, providing seats for outdoor meetings, reporting unsanitary conditions, destroying tent caterpillars, maintaining Scout wells, securing community Christmas trees, distributing Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets, taking flowers to hospitals, "adopting" friendless old people, gathering old clothes for the needy, selling Red Cross Seals, searching for lost persons, acting as ushers at public gatherings, conducting first-aid tents at fairs, fighting forest fires, removing furniture from burning houses, arranging for safe and sane Fourth of July celebrations, decorating the graves of veterans on Memorial Day, guiding convention delegates, removing unsightly signs from public highways.

In Washington, D. C., the Boy Scouts saved the women's suffrage parade and the fair name of the city in 1913. In Salem, after the fire of June 1914, they served like so many men until the tremendous problem of caring for the homeless thousands was well in hand. Their service has a double value—it helps the city and educates them. The accomplishment of a piece of service for his town or city will do more to develop a boy's civic and national pride and prepare him to be an intelligent voter and officer holder than a year's study of civil government from books. A community which neglects to foster an organization which produces such results deserves whatever it may have of unjustly high taxes, lax law enforcement and juvenile delinquency.

Here's to Laughter

Here's to laughter, the sunshine of the soul, the happiness of the heart, the echo of youth, the privilege of purity, the echo of innocence, the treasure of the humble, the wealth of the poor, the head of the cup of pleasure; it dispels dejection, banishes blues and mangles melancholy, for it's the foe of woe, the destroyer of depression, the enemy of grief; it is what makes kings envy peasants, plutocrats envy the poor, the guilty envy the innocent; it's the sheen on the silver of smiles, the ripple on the water's delight; the glint of the gold of gladness; without it humor would be dumb, wit would wither, dimples would disappear and smiles would shrivel, for it's a glow of a clean conscience, the voice of a pure soul, the birth cry of mirth, the swan-song of sadness.—New York Herald.

Five Sectional Conferences on Tuberculosis

Sectional conferences on tuberculosis will be held during the month of October in New Haven, Conn., Louisville, Ky., Jackson, Miss., Newark, N. J., and Albuquerque, N. M., under the auspices of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, according to a recent bulletin.

The Louisville conference, which will comprise the Mississippi Valley States, will meet first on October 4, 5 and 6. The New England States Conference at New Haven will meet on October 12 and 13; the Albuquerque Conference taking in the Southwestern States, on October 13 and 14; the Atlantic States Conference at Newark on October 20 and 21, and the Conference for the Southern States at Jackson on October 30 and 31.

The governors of every state in the territory of each of these conferences will appoint delegates, and the mayors of practically all of the principal cities will send representatives. Chambers of commerce, state and county medical societies, anti-tuberculosis associations, women's clubs and other civic and social groups are being urged to send delegates to the conference in their various districts. The programs of each conference will be suited to the locality in which the conference is held. Speakers of national prominence will be present at these meetings.

The states comprised in the New England Conference are Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and Connecticut. The North Atlantic Conference states are New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, and the District of Columbia. The Southern Conference states are North and South Carolina, Tennessee, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, and Louisiana. The Mississippi Valley Conference states are Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Arkansas, Kansas, Nebraska, North Dakota, and South Dakota. The Southwestern Conference will take in the states of Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Colorado, Utah, Arizona, Nevada and California.

Anti-tuberculosis workers are urged now to make plans to attend the conference in their own district or the one nearest to them.

Information about any of the conferences may be obtained from the office of The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, 105 East 22d Street, New York.

ALLIES NEW OFFENSIVE

London, Aug. 24.—A great battle of nations, with the troops of nearly every European belligerent involved, is gradually developing in the Balkans as the fighting on the 150-mile front along the Greek border increases in fury.

Turkey is sending reinforcements into Bulgaria, according to an Athens dispatch. At least one division of Turkish soldiers is en route to join the Bulgars in the attack on the allied lines, while another division will be so placed as to threaten Roumania should that country decide to enter the war on the side of the allies.

Austria will be asked to send a few detachments to the Greek border to join the Bulgars, Germans and Turks in resisting the combined attacks of French, English, Russians, Italians, Serbians and Montenegrins. In no engagement of modern history have the armies of so many nations been in clash along one battlefield.

Forced to yield advanced positions under the first Bulgarian attacks, the allies have reinforced their lines and are strongly on the offensive in the Vardar valley northwest of Salonica.

On the wings the Bulgarians have made further slight advances by reason of their numerical superiority, but Anglo-French artillery and the stubborn resistance of the Serbs has considerably checked the momentum of the advancing enemy forces.

South of Demir Hisar the Bulgars progressed four miles, taking small Greek villages, but were halted by allied artillery.

All press dispatches from Roumania bear evidence of close censorship, but from indirect sources it is reported that the fighting in the Balkans has caused a profound impression in Bucharest. The latest news from Berlin indicates some feeling of uneasiness in the German capital.

But despite warlike reports brought to London in a roundabout manner, many persons well informed on the Balkan situation do not believe that Roumania will enter the war at least until the allies have advanced up the Vardar valley and have scored decisive gains against the Bulgarians.

It has been known here for several weeks that the third Roumanian army was mobilized and in readiness for instant service, but there has been no other positive evidence of military movements to warrant the belief that Roumania is about to declare war.

On the western front the French are apparently marking time while the British push their operations against Thiepval and Guillemont. London reports a fresh tightening of the ring around Thiepval in the capture of 200 yards of German trenches south of the town.

Conflicting claims are made by Berlin and Petrograd in regard to the fighting on the eastern front. Both sides report the capture of positions near Jablonitz pass, where a violent struggle has been in progress for several days on the crest of the Carpathians. Berlin claims also the sanguinary repulse of Russian attempts to cross the Stokhod and apparently fighting of an extremely desperate character is going on in that district.

Germans Send British Craft to the Bottom of North Sea

London, Aug. 21.—Two British light cruisers, the Nottingham and Falmouth, were sunk in the North Sea by German submarines while the vessels were searching for the German high seas fleet, according to an official announcement issued by the admiralty.

All the officers of the Nottingham were saved, but thirty-eight of the crew are missing. All the officers and men of the Falmouth were saved, but one stoker died of injuries.

Mexican Commission Named

SMALL HELD WITHOUT BAIL

Pleads Not Guilty to Charge of Murdering Mrs. Turnbull

Bar Harbor, Me., Aug. 24.—Guy Small of Otter Creek was arraigned in the local court on a charge of murder in killing Mrs. Emma Turnbull, the widow whose body, with the skull crushed, was found beside a path leading to her home three weeks ago. Small pleaded not guilty and was held without bail for a continued hearing.

Members of the summer colony attended the hearing, including Constantin Fran, the Danish minister to Washington.

STATE AND NATION

R. R. STRIKE UNSETTLED

Washington, Aug. 24.—In another effort to aid the presidents of the country's railroads to find some way in which to accept an eight-hour day for their trainmen and avert the threatened strike, President Wilson last night conferred with Presidents Holden of the Burlington, Willard of the Baltimore and Ohio and Lovett of the Union Pacific railroads.

Neither White House officials nor the presidents would discuss the conference, however, that the three executives went to the White House to receive an answer to the suggestion they made to Mr. Wilson Tuesday night, that he give them more specific information as to how the railroads may get the additional revenue necessary to take care of the greater payrolls that will come with the eight-hour day.

Earlier in the day President Wilson discussed the railroad situation at length with Senator Newlands and Representative Adamson, chairman of the two committees of congress in charge of legislation affecting interstate commerce. Their visit was the consequence of that of the railroad men Tuesday night.

The two chairmen are said to have agreed that the president's position in the present situation was right and to have said that every effort could be expected in congress to put through any legislation which might help solve the present difficulty and provide for the future.

One of the means for recouping suggested by the president to the railroads in his public outline of his position was through an increase in freight rates. It was pointed out that the president cannot directly ask the interstate commerce commission to grant increases to the railroads. Congress, however, might pass a resolution directing the commission, in view of what it considers an unprecedented situation, to grant higher rates.

Congress also might pass a resolution directing the commission to investigate all matters investigated in the present controversy, and the whole subject of the relations of railroads and their employees. One result expected from yesterday's conference is an early effort to pass the bill introduced several months ago to increase the commission's membership from seven to nine.

It became evident that most of the railroad executives have come to believe that there can be only one way of preventing a strike and that is by accepting the eight-hour plan. The chief effort in their own conferences yesterday was to find some scheme by which an eight-hour day may be put in operation on all the railroads at the least added expense.

Many suggestions along this line have been made by the presidents, but not one of them has proved feasible when submitted to the acid test of operating officials.

The representatives of the railroad Brotherhoods show further evidence of discontent and a desire to get away. At their session yesterday many speakers declared that the presidents were playing for delay and that no good to the men could come from such a policy.

Five Negroes Lynched

Gainesville, Fla., Aug. 21.—Five negroes, three men and two women, were taken from the jail at Newberry and hanged by a mob, and another negro was shot and killed by deputy sheriffs near Jonesville as the result of the killing of Constable Wynne and the shooting of Dr. Harris by Booley Long, a negro.

Irish Editors Muzzled

London, Aug. 24.—Leaders among the Irish radicals attacked the government policy toward Ireland again during debate in the house of commons, when the government stated that Irish editors had been warned not to print matter likely to cause disaffection in Ireland.

Montreal, Aug. 24.—Elliot Wadsworth of Boston was elected vice chairman and executive head in Washington of the American Red Cross at a special meeting of the executive committee here.

German Warship Perhaps Sunk
London, Aug. 23.—The British submarine E-23 made a successful torpedo attack on a German battleship of the Nassau class, the admiralty announced. It is believed the battleship was sunk.

Bandits Defeat Cafranza Troops
El Paso, Tex., Aug. 23.—A force of sixty Villa bandits engaged and defeated a hundred government troops in Chihuahua. The de facto command lost twenty men, while the outlaws lost but twelve.

Senate Passes New Army Bill
Washington, Aug. 24.—The senate passed the army appropriation bill with an amendment replacing the articles of war in it, but minus the provisions which caused the president to veto it last week.

TO REMAIN ON BORDER

Washington, Aug. 22.—The National Guard will be retained on the Mexican border until it can be withdrawn without again endangering American lives and property.

Secretary Baker so declared the administration's policy in answering a score of letters from many parts of the country complaining that the state troops were being held in service after the emergency for which they were called out apparently had passed.

In general, the complainants alleged that border service was entailing loss financially on military men and hardships on their families. The secretary replied to all those seeming to merit attention.

By its presence on the border, he wrote in one, the guard is "winning bloodless victories daily." He declared that American residents along the international line were enjoying a peace and security they could not know without the military forces to protect them.

DEUTSCHLAND AT BREMEN

German Undersea Merchantman Has Reached Her Home Port

Berlin, Aug. 24.—The merchant submarine Teischland arrived at Bremen on Aug. 23, according to the Overseas News Agency.

The agency says that the Deutschland arrived in the afternoon, and anchored before the mouth of the river. All on board were well.

The Deutschland's trip back to Germany took twenty-two days, while her voyage to the United States from Kiel was seventeen days, she having left Germany on June 23 and arrived at Baltimore July 10. The entire lapse of time from when she left Germany until her arrival back there was exactly two months.

The German undersea boat sailed from Baltimore on Aug. 1. Outside of the three-mile limit, allied warships were watching and waiting, ready to pounce upon her, but as the days wore on and no word of her capture was forthcoming, it was known that Captain Koenic had successfully eluded the cordon of dreadnoughts.

PERSHING IS PLEASED

General Reviews Fine Body of Men Under His Command in Mexico

Columbus, N. M., Aug. 23.—Warlike efficiency radiated from the ranks of the troops of his command who passed in review before General Pershing, leader of the American punitive expedition.

"The finest body of men I ever had the pleasure of commanding," declared the general after the last wagon rumbled past, "and fit for any action."

Perfectly drilled and equipped, the 5000 men made an impressive spectacle. A picturesque touch was the appearance on the scene of three aeroplanes, which skimmed just above the moving columns.

French Execute Woman Spy

Paris, Aug. 23.—The execution of a woman as a spy is reported in a dispatch from Marseilles. Felice Pinat was put to death at a shooting range, having been convicted of espionage.

Burleson Turns to $5,200,000 Check
Washington, Aug. 21.—Postmaster General Burleson has forwarded to the treasury department a check for $5,200,000 in payment of surplus in postal revenues for the past fiscal year.

Hotel Cash Boxes Stolen
Cleveland, Aug. 23.—While C. W. Burman, clerk at Hotel Olmsted, was absent from his case for four minutes, a thief got away with cash boxes containing $1021.

Strike of Print Workers
Fall River, Mass., Aug. 23.—The printers and calendar room help of the American Printing company went out on strike in an effort to secure shorter working hours.

Track and Field Meet
This afternoon will be devoted to athletics. The preliminaries for the track and field events being held at 2 o'clock. The meet is sure to be interesting, for the Cornell track team, which has won the championship three times in succession with the exception of last year, when the meet was won by M. I. T., arrived in town last night accompanied by Trainer Frank Sheehan and two managers. The team is fairly strong this year and hopes to wrest the championship from the M. I. T. boys, or at least make a much better showing than last year. Ping, one of the strongest men in the half and two-mile, has been having trouble with his throat and is not expected to run. The team consists of the following men:

C. T. Chang, Captain; W. Y. Chin, L. N. Lan, C. Ping, G. P. Sun, C. K. Cheung, K. Y. Chu, C. L. Lin, C. Yang, Y. C. Yang, C. S. Chen, A. S. Lin.

The platform addresses, all of which will be open to the public, will be delivered by such well-known speakers as Willard D. Straight of New York; Hon. David I. Walsh, former governor of Massachusetts; John H. Fahey, President American Chamber of Commerce, and Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo, Chinese Minister to the United States. These addresses will be held every morning at 11 o'clock, with the exception of Wednesday, August 30, which is reserved for the picnic, and will be well worth attending.

The reproduction of a modern Chinese play will be given Wednesday evening August 30, at 8.15. The play chosen is "The New Order Cometh," and was written in English by a Chinese graduate of Clark University and is performed by a cast of thirteen, consisting of Chinese Students from Wellesley, Hunter, Mt. Holyoke, Yale, M. I. T., and W. P. I. The play has been produced with great success in New York, New Haven, Worcester and Boston, and has been highly commended. Tickets may be obtained at the Andover Bookstore and at the door, at the cost of 75 cents and 50 cents. There will be light comedy sketches and music given in addition to the play.

The soccer game which is to be played on Friday afternoon, September 1, between a team composed of the Chinese Students and a picked eleven composed of various soccer players from this town, is of local interest and will attract a large crowd. The game will take place on the old campus at 4 o'clock.

Miss Sallie Bartlett of Central street is visiting Miss Lidwine Curran at Phillips Beach, Swampscott, for a week.

Miss Alice O'Connell, bookkeeper for Buchan & Francis, the local furniture firm, is enjoying her annual vacation of two weeks.

Miss Margaret May of Washington avenue fell from a lawn swing last Wednesday and broke her arm. Dr. Walker was called and attended to the injury.

Miss Ruth Cates of Whittier street has returned with her cousin, Miss Ethel Steward, to the latter's home in Lexington, where she will make an extended visit.

A large number of local people attended the band concert in Reading last Tuesday evening. Concerts are given nearly every Tuesday and are getting more popular each week with the people of this town.

The old barn on Park street which has been occupied recently by Scott T. Shattuck is being moved to a new location at the corner of Park and Florence streets, to make room for the new business block to be erected by Buchan and McNally. J. J. Evans of Methuen is doing the moving.

OBITUARIES
KIRKE W. MOSES

The death of Kirke W. Moses, one of the oldest residents of Andover, occurred at his home on Whittier street, Tuesday evening. Although residing in Andover but a comparatively short time, he was well known having made many friends through business relations while living in Lawrence. Mr. Moses was a veteran of the Civil war, enlisting in the 23rd Infantry from Lewiston, Me., serving with the rank of lieutenant. He enlisted a second time and as Captain recruited Co. G, 30th Infantry, with which company he served until the end of the war. He was a member of Needham Post, 39, G. A. R., and a charter member of Prospect lodge, 13, K. of P. of Somersworth, N. H. He came to Lawrence from Somersworth in 1878 as agent of the Farwell Bleachery when that concern was built, and with which he was connected until he retired in 1909. He was known among his friends as a business associate as a man of the strictest integrity and sterling character. He is survived by his wife, Emma F., a son Kirke W. Jr., of Lawrence, a daughter Frances and a sister, Mrs. Annie A. Archibald of Lawrence.

Services were held at the late home this morning at 10 o'clock. Interment was at Somersworth, N. H.

ROBERT WALKER

Succumbing to a sudden attack of heart trouble, Robert Walker passed away at his home at 214 North Main street on Wednesday evening. He had been in apparent good health and his death came as a great shock to his wife, who survives him. He was employed in Marland mills and was a man of excellent habits and character.

The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon, with services at 2 o'clock, by Rev. Charles W. Henry of Christ Episcopal church. Interment will be in Spring Grove cemetery.

MRS. SARAH A. NICKLESS

On Thursday morning after a long illness, Mrs. Sarah A. Nickless passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George Morse, on Maple avenue, at the age of 66 years and 2 days.

Mrs. Nickless was born in Newport, Maine, and spent her early life there. After her marriage she moved to Carlsle, Mass. For the past ten years she has resided in Andover.

The deceased is survived by one sister, Mrs. Minnie Miles of Fitchburg, and two daughters, Mrs. George Morse and Mrs. Charles Morse.

The funeral will be held at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George Morse, 18 Maple avenue tomorrow afternoon at 1.30 o'clock. Burial will be in the family lot in Green Cemetery, Carlsle.

Exception to the Rule

Mr. Rodd—You should remember, my son, that there is nothing attained without labor. You need not expect to get something for nothing.

Tommy—Huh! I get lots of lickings for nothing, anyhow.

Tyer Rubber Co. Beats Haverhill

The Tyer Rubber Co. defeated the Haverhill team at Athletics Park in Haverhill last Saturday afternoon by a score of 2-1. It was one of the best ball games that has been played on the field during the last two years, and not until the last man was out was the issue in any way certain.

The Tyrians scored the winning run in the ninth after the first two men were out. Brown laced a long double to left center, and then Cussan, who had previously made two hits, followed suit with a two-bagger to the same spot, which scored Brown with what proved to be the winning run.

Haverhill nearly evened up the score in the last half of the ninth, when they had two men on with none out, but Porter settled down and forced Cunningham, who was attempting to sacrifice, to pop up an easy fly. Ahern then drove a wicked smash to Killackey, who made a fine running catch in deep centre. Sipey closed the game with an easy out.

Tyrians to Play Centipedes

Saturday afternoon on the local playground, the Tyer Rubber baseball team, winners of Division B, in the Industrial league, will play the strong Centipedes of Lawrence. The locals are going at a fast pace and have lost but one game this season. Last Saturday they defeated a strong Haverhill team 2-1 and the game tomorrow will be worth witnessing.

The Centipedes have not played here for three years, defeating the Royals in the rubber game of a three-game series.

The Old Holland, Submarine

The first successful submarine boat of the navy, the old Holland, is about to be cut up for scrap steel, and through the efforts of the writer a special dispensation has been procured from the Navy Department and a ten days' stay of execution from the wreckers. It is now necessary to find a public-spirited citizen or a municipality that will advance the amount necessary to preserve and place the old relic.

The tanks and machinery have been removed and the hull stands intact and ready to be mounted upon a concrete or other base. Its weight is twenty-eight tons, and is in three sections, to facilitate handling; the sections are easily bolted together. Total length, sixty-one feet; depth and width, eleven feet.

The wreckers require the price of the scrap steel, which amounts to $350. It will cost $100 to load on cars in Philadelphia and $90 freight to within one hundred miles of Philadelphia. The total cost thus amounts to about $500 delivered. This old relic would be a fine monument for almost any park, and would be particularly suitable at this time and for some seaside park.

As a member of the first crew of this boat, I am naturally anxious to see it preserved.

Morgan Collected Friends

All men of affairs take chances on "long shots." Only the poor man, or the very rich man, puts security first. Banker promoters delight in the risks which measure their services to enterprise. If they made no mistakes they would miss many successes. Besides, a man of a character like Mr. Morgan's helps many lame ducks, regardless of the substance in their ventures. Benevolence rather than incompetence is the sure revelation between the lines of such entries. No better proof could be wanted than the personal bequests he made. Seldom is there seen a longer list, and even more rarely a more careful proportion between merit and reward than in his list of bequests to his business staff. His charities are considerable, more than might be expected, considering his generosity while alive. His bequests to friends attest the genuineness of their comradeship. His possessions of art objects are duly appraised at $20,531,609, against securities $18,843,951. It is an instructive comparison. He certainly would have agreed that his collections of unique articles were more valuable than the securities. One he could replace at will. The other is beyond duplication by any magic of money, or that assiduity of search which marks the true collector.

A One Year Vocational Course in Poultry Husbandry

Instructional Force: J. C. Graham, Loyal F. Payne, E. H. Rucker, and Fred Cockerell.

This course is designed for graduates of the agricultural vocational schools and others who wish to take a truly vocational course and can spend only one year at college. This course is limited to sixteen students the first year and begins September 20, 1916, ending June 23, 1917.

Since the establishment of this department in 1911 there has been a demand for a one-year vocational course in Poultry Husbandry to meet the needs of those who wish to specialize in this branch of agriculture and who feel they cannot spend either two or four years in doing it. It is intermediate between the college course and the ten-weeks short course and is designed to prepare the student for practical poultry keeping either for pleasure or for profit. "Learn to do by doing" is our motto. A more or less detailed outline is given below and the general plan is as follows: The student will devote all his time to poultry work from the opening of college in September to January 1 at which time he will drop all poultry courses except Course 1 and take about fifteen credits in Course 6. From the close of the winter short course, about March 15, until college closes, about the middle of June, he will again devote all his time to poultry work. As will be seen the short course brings the student in contact with other members of the faculty and acquaints him with important correlated work. We believe no more comprehensive vocational course in poultry husbandry has ever been offered anywhere. As the class is limited to sixteen it will be well for those who wish to take advantage of it to apply at once.

COURSE OF STUDY

Course 1. Elementary Poultry Keeping. A text-book course supplemented with lectures, recitations, etc. covering the entire field of elementary poultry keeping, special emphasis being laid upon the following subjects: Opportunities in poultry keeping, poultry house construction, feeds and feeding, breeds and breeding, incubation, brooding, growing stock and poultry diseases, five recitations per week throughout the year.

Course 2. A practical laboratory course covering the following subjects: Carpentry, fattening, killing, picking, dressing, canning, avian anatomy and physiology, making and applying disinfectants, lice powder, also identification and study of poultry feeds, etc., two laboratory periods per week from September until December inclusive.

Course 3. Poultry Judging. The Standard of Perfection will be used as a text. Fall term. Two 2-hour laboratory periods.

Course 4. A practical laboratory course in incubation, brooding and growing stock, equivalent to five laboratory periods per week from March to June inclusive.

Course 5. A conference, observation and general reading course equivalent to one or two recitations per week during the fall and spring terms. In this course the student will become thoroughly acquainted with the best literature on poultry subjects through books, station bulletins, scientific articles, poultry magazines, etc. A thorough discussion of the problems met by the practical poultrymen is a strong feature of this course.

Course 6. Supplementary courses. Each student shall elect from the winter short course enough of the following subjects to give him at least twelve to eighteen credit hours. Pomology, Soils, Agronomy, Beekeeping, Market Gardening, Animal Husbandry, Farm Management, Dairying, etc.

Course 7. Poultry Management. A general poultry practice course in the care and management of poultry, the work to be done morning, noon and night, and other periods as necessity requires, the class to be responsible for the work in caring for the specified flocks under the supervision of instructors from September until December inclusive and from March until June, inclusive.

Entrance Requirements: Applicants must at least be eighteen years of age and have a good elementary education.

Fees: There is no tuition for residents of Massachusetts, but a laboratory fee of $4.00 is required for the fall term and the same for the spring term.
